

MR. SAPAN MACWAN

Qualification: M.Sc. Nursing (Medical Surgical Nursing); B.Sc. Nursing

Designation: Assistant Professor

Description: Mr. Sapan Macwan is an Assistant Professor of Nursing with nearly 15 years of total professional experience, comprising 5 years of academic teaching and 10.1 years of clinical practice in tertiary care hospitals and emergency medical services. He holds a Master of Science in Nursing with a specialization in Medical–Surgical Nursing and a sub-specialty in Cardio-thoracic and Vascular Nursing.

He is actively involved in coordinating the teaching–learning process and provides clinical supervision and academic guidance to undergraduate nursing students in clinical settings. He is certified in Basic Life Support (BLS) by the American Heart Association (AHA) and has received specialized training through GVK EMRI – 108 Emergency Services, which has strengthened his competencies in emergency and life-saving care.

Mr. Macwan has published a research article in the Scopus-indexed Indian Journal of Forensic Medicine & Toxicology titled “A Study to Assess the Effectiveness of Structured Teaching Program on Knowledge and Practice Regarding Adult Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation among Road Traffic Police in Nadiad City.”

In addition to his academic and research responsibilities, he serves as the In-charge of the Mentor–Mentee Committee and the Audio-Visual Aids Department. He is also an active member of the Vocational Guidance Committee, Examination Committee, and Institutional Admission Committee, contributing significantly to the academic and administrative development of the institution.

He has been recognized for his dedicated humanitarian service during the Bihar Flood Relief Camp in 2007, where he served as an Emergency Medical Staff member and provided essential medical care to flood-affected populations.
